Course Description: EDUC 260 is intended to provide the student with knowledge about the field of educational psychology and particularly how those ideas apply to effective teaching practices in the classroom. The course will focus on the following essential questions: How should the development of children and adolescents influence our classrooms and teaching practices? How do people learn? How do cognitive, motivational, environmental and cultural factors influence learning?

Relationship to Campus Theme: The purpose of the Education and Human Development Discipline is to educate students for careers as paraeducators, teachers, early childhood professionals and adult caregivers. The discipline provides coursework which transitions to higher degrees and work-related skills. Programs must prepare professionals based on industry standards and provide an educational continuum for degree advancement. Dakota College at Bottineau is committed to a hands-on learning environment and uses field experiences in educational settings as common instructional techniques.

Goals/Objectives: Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Discuss authorities and theories in the fields of educational psychology
- Explain the relationship between theories and educational practice
- Analyze and reflect upon classroom interactions and structures
- Employ ideas from the field of educational psychology to design appropriate education experiences

Required Textbooks and Materials:

Ormrod, J. (2011). Educational psychology: Developing learners (7th ed.). Upper Saddle River, NJ:

Pearson-Merrill Prentice Hall.

Course Requirements:

Description of Assignment/Assessment	Points Possible
Do Now/Exit Slip: Students are expected to participate in various in-class activities, designed to facilitate the learning process. These activities may not be made up in the event of absenteeism unless documentation is provided showing a medical or other emergency.	5 points x 14 classes = 70 points
Mini-Experiments: Students will conduct 3 mini-experiments to apply class concepts to real-life situations. Through this activity, students will also be introduced to basic elements of empirical research. Experiments will conclude with a report.	20 points x 3 = 60 points
Reflections on Class Content: Students will choose to assess, critique and reflect upon two specific topics, class discussions or lectures in an effort to make connections between ideas. The goal of this assignment is to demonstrate critical thinking and insights with regards to course material. Students will complete two reflections during the course.	20 points x 2 = 40 points
Research Critique: This paper gives students the opportunity to expand their knowledge of course material and gain a perspective on educational issues. Students will select a journal article to summarize, analyze and discuss.	30 points
Midterm: The midterm will cover material from the first half of the course and will include material from assigned readings, lectures and class discussions.	50 points
Final: The final will cover material from the second half of the course and will include material from assigned readings, lectures and class discussions.	50 points
Total Points Possible & Received:	300 points

Grades: Grades are earned through points and converted into a percentage. Percentages are calculated by dividing the total points earned by the total points possible. Grades are assigned to percentages as follows:

Percent	Grade
90-100%	A	Target
80-89%	B	Acceptable-high
70-79%	C	Acceptable-low
61-70%	D	Unacceptable
0-59%	F	Unacceptable

Academic and Institution Policies:

Academic Integrity

The academic community is operated on the basis of honesty, integrity and fair play. It is the expectation that all students, as members of the college community, adhere to the highest levels of academic integrity. This means that students are responsible for submitting their own work. Student work must not be plagiarized. Students must not cooperate on oral or written examinations or work together on valued assignments without authorization. Students should have high ethical standards and conduct themselves in an appropriate manner.

View the Plagiarism Tutorial-Pearson Education to learn more about plagiarism, citing sources, etc.

Confidentiality

The experiences or problems shared by classmates during meeting time are not to be discussed outside of class. This is preparation for those going into a helping field where confidentiality is stressed in the CEC Standards for Professional Practice.

Disabilities and Special Needs

Please inform the instructor within the first week of classes if any assistance is required due to disabilities or special needs. If you have a disability for which you need an accommodation, contact the Learning Center to request disability support services. Phone: (701)228-5477; Toll-free: 1(888)918-5623

Quality of Work

At the college level of learning, it is expected that all work submitted is free of spelling, grammar and punctuation errors. Participation in the course is expected and taken into account when determining course grades. Discussion and information must be thought-out, in-depth and incorporate new vocabulary and concepts learned during the course.
