BND Dual Credit Student Application Fee Policy

DCB.806

EFFECTIVE DATE: May 2020

Revised: November 2026

Purpose Statement:

The Bank of North Dakota (BND) offers a financial assistance program for dual credit students on the free or reduced meal plan at their high school. If students qualify, the BND program covers the cost of the $35 application fee, tuition and books.

Policy:

DCB will matriculate dual credit applicants listed on the BND approval list each semester. DCB will calculate these students as paid. The BND will pay the $35 application fee for these students.

Process for Dual Credit Students to have Application Fee Paid by Bank of ND:

The following process outlines the steps involved for students and staff:

1. Dual credit students who receive free or reduced meal plans may complete the application form through the BND. Students that qualify, have the $35 application fee paid by the BND.
2. All dual credit students are required to apply for admission.
3. BND will send a list of approved students to the DCB Business Office.
4. DCB will calculate and matriculate the approved students from the BND list.

BND will provide payment to DCB to cover the $35 application fee for students on the list by the end of the semester.
